NEWS OF IRISH HERITAGE ARTISTS

Brian O'Kane, who featured in our Young Musicians Programme at The Irish Club in October 2009, is performing Elgar's Cello Concerto at Guildhall School of Music & Drama's Gold Medal Final in the Barbican on May 5th. Previous winners include Bryn Terfal (1989), Tasmin Little (1986) and Jacqueline du Pré

(1960). Barbican Box Office: Telephone 020 7638 8891 or online www.barbican.org.uk

A hugely successful Opera Gala was held in Birr, Co. Offaly, Ireland on Sunday 25th April hosted by John Molloy (bass). It included no less than six young artists who have performed with Irish Heritage over past few years – Cara O’Sullivan (soprano), Sandra Oman (soprano), Eamon Mulhall (tenor), Owen Gilhooly and Mairead Hurley (piano) and of course John himself who is now training with the National Opera Studio in London.

Donal Cox, actor, who has made countless appearances with Irish Heritage over the years, will be appearing as Lord Caversham in Oscar Wilde's 'An Ideal Husband' at Greenwich Playhouse until May 24th. A unique opportunity to enjoy the brilliance of Oscar's greatest play in an intimate setting, with period costume and great attention to excellence of acting. Box Office: Telephone 020 8858 9256 or online www.thegalleontheatre.co.uk

THE IRISH HERITAGE TEAM

You might wonder how it all happens. There is a great team of volunteers working hard to bring you the events and keep you in contact. Some you will know, others perhaps not. So here is a brief profile of our committee.

Ethna Kennedy is the co-founder and Artistic Director. Ethna devises the programmes, identifies and auditions the artists and keeps up the highest standards of performance – and has done so over 36 years since our foundation.

Laurence Cahill is the Treasurer, and sets the budgets, keeps the books and records and ensures that the artists, the venues, the printers etc. get paid. He also helps with the application for grants and sponsorship.

Mary Connolly is our Secretary and organizes the committee meetings. Mary keeps the committee on its toes with her agendas, minutes and reminders to get things done.

Yvonne Fitzpatrick-Grimes is a hard working committee member who helps with all aspects of the events and is forward thinking with good ideas.

Emer How is the Events Manager and looks after the arrangements with the venue management and the huge amount of planning that is needed with the venues and suppliers. Emer supervises the front-of-house reception on the night of events and makes sure our guests are made feel welcome before and after the performances.

Mary Mullin is, apart from Ethna, the longest standing committee member with great experience of events and how things ought to be done. Mary has particular experience in the field of art and design and has the distinction of presenting her own Irish Heritage event in the past.

Kathy O’Regan is the Membership Secretary, keeps the records of those who join and renew their membership and sends out membership cards. Kathy also looks after the tickets for our events and ensures that guests get their tickets on the night of the performance if they have not pre-booked.

We are very fortunate to have an Administrative Assistant, Yvonne Kerswell, who does all the mailing, the website updates, liaison with the printers, etc etc.

Your Chairman, Niall Gallagher, tries to bring it all together and looks to the future to see that it will keep happening.

All committee members are actively seeking to extend our membership and introduce new friends – word of mouth is after all the best way for us to attract new members and new audiences. We ask you, our existing members, to help spread the word.
